

E5 Leader

THE POWER OF SUBMISSION

- Having a cause or purpose greater than yourself, which you can get under, puts you 'sub' to that mission.
- Think, plan and find ways to gird up that mission in your life. Books, tapes, encouragement, associations, and using the power of the spoken word are all ways to help support whatever your mission might be.
- It takes great discipline, courage and love to be in submission to another person.
- Recognize the difference between being sub to the mission and being submissive to a person, a bondage or a trait.
- A great example of submission is the act of service where you put your needs after the needs of others.
- Submitting to a higher power/authority brings freedom - Knowing that you're in submission to the right thing and in submission to the proper alignment allows for a freeing feeling.
- Submission may be especially difficult for men: Recognize that men are in submission to many things on a regular basis. Come to terms with it, understand it, and harness it to become a powerful, positive tool in your life.